GC grad comes back to teach

Charles F. Vittor, a new English instructor, is the first GC graduate to return to teach at his alma mater. Vittor was in the first graduating class of GC at the Monte Vista campus.

While attending GC, Vittor maintained a 4.0 average nearly every semester. He was a member of Alpha Gamma Sigma, campus scholarship club.

Vittor says that GC students have changed very little, if any, from the time when he was a student. Vittor, who continued his higher education at San Diego State, earning an AB and MA degree, said he was impressed by the former GC students he met there.

Vittor says that the one person who influenced him the most in his choice of a teaching career was Mrs. Shirley Acheson, now an instructor who was a counselor while he was at GC. Other faculty members whom Vittor termed "top notch" were: Leeland Engelhorn, Donald Roper, Morgan Shelley, Ray Reynolds, Walter Yuhl and John Saetti.

Vittor's oldest daughter graduated from GC in June, and his other daughter completed her first year of college here. She is now attending San Diego State, where one of Mr. Vittor's sons is currently teaching and working for his masters degree in marine biology.

Vittor's specialty is classical and Renaissance literature. He prefers to study this type of literature because it contains a "history of ideas", which he likes to compare with contemporary ideas and attitudes.

Vittor is teaching English 1A, 60, and 60A.
